Rewards and consequences

Actions pupils choose will have consequences. Good choices will result in praise and rewards: poor choices will result in consequences.

What are the purposes of the Behaviour for Learning policy?

To improve standards of behaviour in the learning environment and eradicate 'Low Level Disruption'. The following factors also apply:

- To encourage pupils to take responsibility for their own actions
- To communicate to pupils what good behaviour means
- To use constant positive reinforcement in the pursuit of high standards of work and behaviour
- To reduce the number of incidents of negative behaviour
- To provide a clear set of rewards and sanctions which all pupils, parents/carers and staff understand

Rewards

Al Islah Girls' High School rewards system recognises pupils who make the right choices. Achievement points are awarded to pupils for going above and beyond basic expectations.

Achievement Points

Pupils will automatically enter Al Islah Girls' High School reward programme by accumulating achievement points. All achievement points will be recorded on MMIMs. If pupils do not receive behaviour points they should automatically receive an achievement point. Achievement points may be given out by staff for various reasons. The following are to name a few:

- Outstanding independent work in class or at home
- Outstanding effort/contribution in lessons
- Being consistently on task throughout lessons
- Outstanding presentation of work/oneself
- Contribution to whole school events
- Representing Al Islah Girls High School in a positive light
- Consistently being on time, having equipment and correct uniform
- 100% attendance
- Supporting other pupil(s)
- Being good role models to other pupils and in the community
- Being ambassadors of the school.

Rewards Postcard

To promote positive behaviour and outstanding work, pupils can be awarded a postcard which will be sent home by the school. A message is to be written indicating the reason for the postcard being sent home. This could be for various reasons. The following are to name a few:

- Outstanding work in class or at home produced on a regular basis.
- An accumulation of many achievement points.
- A marked improvement in any aspect of work/behaviour
- Representing the school as an outstanding ambassador

Consequences

The Consequence System is used when pupils make the wrong choices. The system is consistent across the school and gives pupils the opportunity to reflect on their actions and change their behaviour. The expectations regarding behaviour needs to be consistent across the school.

It is essential that C1 and C2 warnings are recorded on the whiteboard (if in the classroom) so that pupils can see that the system is being fairly and consistently applied. If pupils reach a C3, C4 or C5 sanction it is essential that this is recorded on MMIMs.

The 5 Levels of Consequence poster should be clearly visible in all classrooms.

5 Levels of Consequence

- C1 Verbal warning name recorded on board
- C2 Final verbal warning tick next to name on board
- C3 Moved seat within the classroom and Detention for 10 minutes (with class teacher or other adult) Logged on MMIMs
- C4 Removal from lesson to designated area within the school. Detention for 30 minutes after school or lunch time. Logged on MMIMs.
- C5 Repeat C4 offender (3 times in a half term) referred to HT. In a circumstance where a pupil goes beyond the 3 x C4 incidents in a half term, a day in Isolation will be awarded to her.

C1 Verbal Warning

A pupil who behaves inappropriately will be issued with a first warning - Consequence One (C1) by the class teacher or support staff. These verbal warnings are not to be centrally recorded but should be noted by the class teacher on the board. Teachers need to be calm and decisive in giving a warning to a pupil. In addition to putting the name on the board, inform the pupil why they have a (C1). Examples of where a C1 can be communicated to a pupil are:

- Talking & Inappropriate behavior when entering the learning environment
- Uniform/Jewellery/make-up.

- Chewing/eating in class/ consumption of fizzy drinks
- Off task during lesson
- Poor attitude towards learning
- No equipment (books, PE kits, HE ingredients, DT and Art resources, calculator etc)
- Misuse of school equipment (school/peer)

Remember – as part of Al Islah Girls High School strategies for effective teaching and learning to take place; we need to give pupils a time and a chance to correct any misbehaviour e.g. I will give you time to improve your behaviour but if you choose not to do so then there will be a consequence. (allow take-up time)

C2 Final Warning

If a pupil continues to behave inappropriately then a second, warning is issued, and a tick is made against their name on the board (if in class). In addition to putting a tick next to the name, inform the pupil why they have a (C2).

The issuing of C2 gives a pupil the choice and chance to make the final, right, decision

C3 Detention

If a pupil does not meet the expectations for a third time they are required to move seat within the classroom, receive a detention and this is recorded in MMIMS under behaviour management. Inform the pupil why they have a (C3)

A detention will be issued for 10 minutes.

This detention could take place at break, lunchtime or after school depending on the subject teacher and availability of pupil.

Automatic C3 incidents are:

- Defiance to staff
- Failure to complete classwork
- Bad language/name calling

Remember – reasons for giving the consequence must be made clear. Pupils should know why they have received the consequence, how to modify their behaviour and what the consequences will be if they continue to behave inappropriately.

C4 Detention

If a pupil does not meet the expectations for a fourth time, they are referred from the classroom to a designated area within the school, they receive an after school detention or a longer lunch time detention. Inform the pupil why they have a (C4)

A detention will be issued for 30 minutes and pupil will be placed on a Form Tutor Report for 5 days

This must be entered on MMIMs and parents/carers must be given notice via a detention slip (provided by the class teacher), and sent a notification via MMIMS.

After unsuccessful Form Tutor report, there will be a parental meeting with the pupil and parents.

Automatic C4 incidents are:

- Bullying
- Aggressive and abusive language to pupils / staff
- Bringing school into disrepute
- Vandalism
- Use of mobile phone/Ipods/Gadgets

If a pupil receives a C4 on 3 occasions (3 x 30minute detentions) in any Half Term then they have a day in Isolation.

C5 Repeat C4 Offender (3 times in each half term)

C5 incidents must be referred to the Headteacher for further investigation.

Automatic C5 incidents are:

- Fighting
- Truancing
- Smoking
- Racial abuse
- Theft
- Harassment to a member of staff
- Criminal Act/Threatening violence
- Causing significant damage to school property

Pupil Reports

Pupils can be placed on report to their tutor or Headteacher when there are concerns about their behaviour. Parents/Carers must be informed when a pupil is placed on report and completed report cards will be kept on pupils record and file.

Exclusions

Pupils who present with serious on-going disruptive behaviour that could lead to exclusion are referred to the Head Teacher.

Serious incidents of misbehaviour will not be tolerated and may result in Isolation or permanent exclusion. At this stage the Headteacher would contact Governors and discuss individual cases.

These incidents may include:

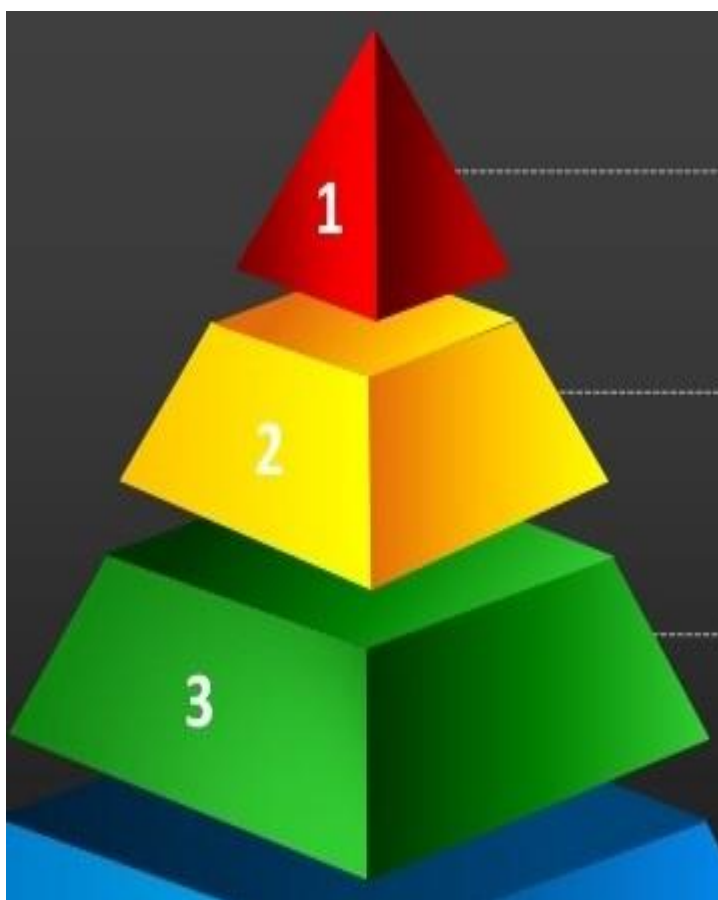

- Bringing a weapon into school. This includes knives, guns and other implements which may be used as a weapon.
- Violence or threats against staff or their property
- Violence or threats against other pupils
- Sustained physical or psychological bullying

- Dangerous behaviour which poses a health and safety risk
- Absolute refusal to meet school expectations or follow school behaviour policy
- Continued persistent high-level disruption

Administration and Record Keeping

The correct paperwork must be used when dealing with behaviour concerns and recorded on SIMS when necessary and the PCO must be made aware in the first instance.
